MOHAWK LIFTS

According to an Economic Policy Institute report published in 2014, between 2001 and 2013 China cost the U.S. 3.2 million jobs, with three quarters of the jobs being in manufacturing. Mohawk Lifts is hoping to help counteract this statistic by keeping all manufacturing in Amsterdam, NY, in the same building the company began in 1981. Mohawk began 35 years ago with only one lift model. Today, the company offers ten two-post models, nine four-post models, mobile columns, parallelograms and lifts for custom applications.

The lifts can service everything from cars to trucks to forklifts and turf equipment. Mohawk's customers include those with a home garage, independent repair shops, car dealerships, private sector garages and government facilities. Mohawk employs 70+ employees, many of whom reside in Montgomery County.

While many manufacturers have left New York State or changed from a manufacturer of products to an assembly shop (with products from overseas), Mohawk remains a true New York State manufacturer that sources steel and other lift components from the state.

"Keeping the manufacturing process in the United States ensures the highest quality standards for our customers" says Steve Perlstein, President at Mohawk Lifts.

Utilizing Mohawk's New York State contract that was established in 1994 for all government agencies, the largest lift that Mohawk manufactures is a four post lift with a capacity of 120,000 pounds, one of which happens to be located at the Albany County Airport Authority Maintenance Garage. Some other NY locations include the U.S. Army Base in Rotterdam and the New York State Department of Transportation. To view all Mohawk's product galleries please go to

"What makes Mohawk Lifts "Made of Something Stronger" is

"The people who continue to build and support an American made product in Amsterdam, NY and the County that has been supporting Mohawk's efforts for the past 35 years."
